New Horizons in Experience Based Brain Development: *What Do Parents, Caregivers, and Doctors Need to Know

CCWB Annual Community Seminar
Thursday – April 8, 2010
7:00-9:00PM

Lincoln Park Room
Mount Royal University
4825 Mount Royal Gate SW
Calgary, Alberta

SAVE THE DATE

Join colleagues, community members and parents for this special presentation by established developmental pediatrician, Dr. Margaret Clarke.

Her presentation will review new information from the science of early childhood development and provide key messages and practical ideas about applying this information in real life settings with children. Dr. Clarke and her team focus on bringing practical aspects of science to parents and professionals so that they can enhance their practice.

FREE SEMINAR FOR COMMUNITY MEMBERS, PARENTS AND ALL THOSE WHO WORK WITH CHILDREN AND THEIR PARENTS

Please join us in reviewing examples of community-based research projects presented by students of Child Studies 4403 (Community-based Research). Projects include:

- Giving Children a Voice
- Reducing Risky Behaviours Among Youth
- GLBT Youth
- Effectiveness of Intervention at Discovery House Family Violence Prevention Society
- Empathy and Animal Abuse in Children
- To Pesticide or Not to Pesticide
- Cultural Understanding of Preschool Activity
- Shaganappi Village Safe Planning Project
