What to do when you graduate?

I asked our soon-to-be-graduates what they hoped to do in the future. Here is what some of them had to say:

I hope to be accepted into the Optometry Program at the University of Waterloo. - Justine Doll

I've been offered a seat at Boucher Institute of Naturopathic Medicine. In four years, I will be a Naturopathic Doctor! - Madison Isenor

Honestly, not a clue what the next step is. - Anonymous

I hope to get into a Master's program in Physical Therapy. - Mekhail

Graduate school, med school, journal editor, teacher, daycare owner, who knows! - Anonymous

I want to spend my life combining art with science. I think most people think of science and it's very logical and kind of dull but that's not the case at all. Science can be very beautiful, fun, and artistic. That's what I want to show the world. I want to spend it enticing people with the art of science. - Anonymous

Spend some time travelling and exploring the next direction and options I want to take in my education. - Anonymous

Continue learning and growing, both as a scientist and human :) - Valerie Cates

Becoming a junior high or high school science teacher! - Anonymous

Work for a bit, hopefully in a research lab, and save money for Grad school. - Anonymous

I hope to be accepted into dental school. - Anonymous

I have applied to medical school, but anything could happen and I remain open to many possibilities. I am so grateful for this MRU experience and will miss being a student in this community. - Anonymous

I hope that I can end up working in a lab! - Anonymous

I will be travelling, and working for a year, after that I will get an MD. - Anonymous

I will possibly be going to do an MSc overseas in England. - Godi Jibi

Master's Degree in a medicine-related discipline. - Anonymous

My passion is teaching. I will do whatever is necessary to get into that role. - Christa P.

To dream big. I would love to work at a women's clinic and get my MD. - Ashley Macoun

Move to Ireland to study the role of gut bacteria in acute mountain sickness. - Tony M.

I don't know, but I plan to take some time to figure it out. - Konyinsola

I have always had a lot of uncertainty about what to do after MRU. I thought I wanted to be a Vet but now I am taking a gap year to look at options. Some of those that I am interested in is research, I have also now had an interest in a very different career, genetic counselling, based on what I learned in a guest lecturer I had last semester. If you're not sure what you want to do, or even if you think you have a plan set out for yourself I would recommend being open minded about future schooling and careers. - Anonymous
