

We Are Human CoreCore

Description: There has been a rising trend on TikTok of “CoreCore” videos, where the intent is to stitch together similarly unrelated clips to convey a meaningful message. In this case, I wanted to convey the message that we are creating exclusion for no reason, we are human. Each of the families in the clips, no matter if homeless or not, is a family. Each parent is a parent who cares. Homelessness is not as black and white as many people think, and one of the first steps to reducing housing instability, in my opinion, is to understand that the family is the expert of their own lives, and that behind all the stigma, there is humanity.
